

Contributors

Michaela Ashley-Cooper is a programme manager at the Centre for Early Childhood Development.

Eric Atmore is Director of the Centre for Early Childhood Development and an adjunct associate professor in the University of Cape Town's Department of Social Development.

Pierre de Villiers is an associate professor in the Department of Economics at the University of Stellenbosch.

Lauren Graham is a researcher at the Centre for Social Development in Africa at the University of Johannesburg.

Katharine Hall is a senior researcher at the Children's Institute at the University of Cape Town and co-editor of South African Child Gauge 2012.

Ashraf Kariem is a Senior Expert at the National Planning Commission Secretariat in the South African Presidency.

Jacqueline Kew is a senior lecturer in the Department of Accounting at the University of Cape Town.

Peliwe Lolwana is Director of the Education Policy Unit (EPU) at the University of Witwatersrand and former Chief Executive Officer of Umalusi, the Council for Quality Assurance in General and Further Education and Training.

Sithembile Mbete is an assistant researcher at the National Planning Commission Secretariat in the South African Presidency.

Eusebius McKaiser is a political analyst, based at the Wits Centre for Ethics, and is author of the bestselling book A Bantu in my Bathroom, a collection of essays about race, sexuality and other uncomfortable South African topics.

Erica Penfold is Manager: Projects at the Cape Town office of Global Integrity.

Mzukisi Qobo is a senior lecturer in the Department of Political Studies at the University of Pretoria and Deputy Director of the Centre for the Study of Governance Innovation.

Niel Rankin is a professor at the School of Economics and Business Sciences at the University of the Witwatersrand and co-ordinator of the African Micro-Economic Research Umbrella.

Gareth Roberts is a research associate at the African Micro-Economic Research Umbrella at the School of Economics and Business Sciences, University of the Witwatersrand.

Volker Schöer is a senior research associate at the African Micro-Economic Research Umbrella of the School of Economics and Business Sciences at the University of the Witwatersrand.

Deborah Shepherd is a researcher at the African Micro-Economic Research Unit at the University of the Witwatersrand.

Lauren van Niekerk is a programme manager at the Centre for Early Childhood Development.

Gerald Wangenge-Ouma is a senior lecturer at the University of the Western Cape, and a member of the South African Higher Education Funding Review Committee.